

Executive Profile

Jason Pero is a Regional Sales Manager for Welch Systems Inc., working with financial institutions in the Northern Illinois and Chicago Metropolitan territory. Jason's focus is helping financial institutions to become more efficient and profitable through leading-edge technology such as Intelligent Cash Recyclers, Video-Assisted ITM's, Self-Service Coin and various other money handling solutions. Our consultative approach allows Jason to learn your process, and pull together your existing technology, corporate infrastructure, employee skill sets, building layout and even customer interactions to insure our solutions meet your goals.

Prior to joining Welch Systems Inc., Jason worked as a business development representative and lending and collections manager for prominent financial institutions bringing with him over 20 years of operational experience in the banking industry. Jason holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Iowa and was a member of their golf team.

